QUALITY

Our strong in-house quality control team has successfully developed a series of rapid and effective analytical methods, based on the analysis of large quantities of genuine herbs, to identify the marker compounds for a wide range of herbs. Our most advanced laboratory facility enable us to control all final products with accurate levels of active marker compounds and consistent chemical profiles and solidifies our reputation as a leader in the research and development of standardized botanical extracts.

For the finished product QC, a high degree of safety with respect to residual solvents is ensured by employing latest analytical tools like GC headspace to detect traces of solvents and thus complying limits as per international guidelines. Prakruti QC sets high quality standards by testing each heavy metal (arsenic, cadmium, lead and mercury) - rather than just the total heavy metal amount by using sophisticated analytical techniques like ICP-OES and ICP-MS.
